Art Busha enters his third season at helm of Bulldog Soccer. He has 20 years of soccer coaching experience. Busha coached at LeTourneau University in Longview, Texas, an NCAA Division III school previous to Concordia. At Concordia he also serves as intramural director and an HHP instructor. The Western Washington University graduate earned a master’s degree in athletic administration/PE supervision from Washington State. He has also coached at the high school level in Washington, California and Ecuador. Busha has several National Soccer Coaches Association of America (NSCAA) diplomas.

Busha and his wife Cindy have three sons, Sean, Luke and William.

Jason Weides
Assistant Coach

Former player Jason Weides joins the Bulldog Soccer coaching staff this year.

A native of Kearney, Neb., Weides played soccer at Kearney High School. Currently Jason’s brother, Jeff is a member of the team.

"It is a privilege to have Jason back on the staff," said Busha.
After a second consecutive six-win season Head Coach Art Busha and the Concordia University Men’s Soccer squad look to add to that total this season despite a youthful team. The Bulldogs lost seven starters and another pair of letterwinners off last year’s team.

In all 13 players on the Concordia roster are either freshmen or sophomores. Only three seniors dot the Bulldog line-up, one being Brett Kapels, a cross country/track standout who is making the transition to the soccer field.

“We have a fairly young team,” said Busha. “We are going to need good field leadership from some of our upperclassmen and returning players.”

The starters returning include, sophomores Bryan Schranz and Ben Bruns. Also back are junior defenders Luke Busha and Tyler Barry. The Busha/Barry duo anchor a solid core of defenders for Concordia. Another junior, Jeff Weides is back as is senior Joe Yakobe.

This season the Bulldogs plan to run an up tempo attack with more speed of play and attacking from the wings.

“We still want to dictate the game with good possessions,” said Busha. “But at the same time we want to look forward earlier.”

The strength of the squad looks to be the depth at the midfield position along with a impressive group of defenders.

“As a team we want to have a defensive mentality. Working hard to deny penetrating attacks by the opponents will be key,” said Busha. “To do that we have to utilize a good core of defenders who play their roles well and be able to counter-attack from the defense quickly.”

In addition the Bulldogs look to finish games on a better note.

“Last season we didn’t finish well,” Busha added. “This season we hope to finish strong.”

Some of the top newcomers to note include Alex Jorgensen, a forward from Lincoln, Neb. Another Lincoln product, Kraig Hein from Lincoln Lutheran should also contribute in the midfield or at a forward position. Out of state newcomers include midfielders Jason Ashburn from Illinois and Oklahoma native Kyle Neumann. Matt Thomasson from Arizona will also figure in the mix at defender.

“There is a positive expectation among the players,” said Busha. “I think if we believe in ourselves and play with confidence we will have real success and could be a team to watch out for.”

Concordia open the season with back-to-back home games. The first action is on Aug. 26 at 4:00 p.m. against Calumet College-St. Joseph. York College comes to town on Aug. 29 for a 7:00 p.m. contest before the Bulldogs hit the highway for a four-game road trip.
